Stainless Steel Buckle C201-10-T

Product information:

Stainless Steel buckles, other called stainless steel clips, used to attach pole fittings, anchor clamps, suspension fittings and other fittings or accessories together with stainless steel band.

The areas of usage of stainless steel band and buckles are passive optical networks, marine and railway transportation, enclosure mounting, pole fastening, mining, oil and gas industries, pole hardware, road sings, traffic signals, underground cables, emergency labels, power line poles, telecommunications, brake line

LV ABC cable fittings, fiber optic cable accessories, fiber optic splice closures, dead-end guy grips etc. can be installed by buckle HC-10-T with stainless steel strap

Stainless steel buckle LC has max size for band – 20 mm and appropriate for insertion of three coils of band strapping.

Technical specification:

Product code	Max band width	Grades	Weight, kg
HC-10-T	3/8“ – 10 mm	201, 202, 304, 316	0,003